Jonathan Levin Federal Elections Commission 999 E. Street N.W. Washington, D.C. 20463 Supplement to ADR 1990-1

Dear Mr. Levin,

I appreciate your call of January 12, 1990. Listed below are the written responses to your questions. I hope these are satisfactory, however, if you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to call me. It is the firm intent of Digital Corrections Corporation to operate within the Federal Elections Commission's guidelines and appropriate laws.

- 1. The cost per call is fixed for each campaign. DCC will not allow any additional contribution above and beyond what is already set for each call.
- 2. The price per inbound telephone call is a minimum of $8.00 and a maximum of $50.00.
- 3. All calls placed from businesses are disregarded and will not under any circumstances be allowed to be considered as a contribution for a campaign. In prior correspondence we identified clearly our means and methodology to identify the calling party.
- 4. DCC has identified the technology we utilize to identify the calling telephone number, name, address, city, state and that calls can be crossed off the local telephone bill. As a further check on the calling party we request they speak their name, address, city and state in order that we may send a receipt (which will be sent regardless). It is important to note that any words spoken by the calling party are digitally stored and create a positive voice imprint of the calling party. This record can be extracted and presented to an expert for verification or not of the calling party.

Thank you again and I appreciate your time and interest and we look forward to being approved by the Federal Elections Commission. I personally invite members of the FEC to monitor DCC and our fund raising programs.

Sincerely,

Scott D. Roberts

President
